C⬤G WATCH

CogWatch – Cognitive Rehabilitation of Apraxia and Action Disorganisation Syndrome

D5.1 Project Website

| Deliverable No.		D5.1
Workpackage No.	WP5	Workpackage Title	Dissemination and Exploitation
Task No.	TN.5.1	Activity Title	Development of the project website
Authors (per company, if more than one company provide it together)	Gary Randall (BMT)
Status (F: final; D: draft; RD: revised draft):	F
File Name:	CogWatch_D5.1_Project_Website_Final.doc
Project start date and duration	01 November 2011, 36 Months

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. INTRODUCTION

The objective of this task is to set up and maintain a project web site which will serve as a source of continuous project updates about work undertaken, results achieved, publications, oncoming events, etc. In addition to the up-to-date information, the website will allow interested parties (e.g., stroke organisations, healthcare companies, etc) to be registered for inquiries and additional information.

This document introduces the details and features of the current version of the CogWatch project website which is now live and operational on the web. It serves the dual function of being a key instrument of disseminating and exchanging project information as it progresses, as well as a being repository of documents made available to enhance communication between partners.

The CogWatch project website can be accessed at the following URL: http://cogwatch.eu. It has been operational since Month 4 of the project (February 2012). The following is a screen shot of the website's home page.

1.1 Navigation, Structure and Content

Upon entering the home page of the website, site visitors are able to browse the following headers:

1.1.1 About

This page frames the context of the project and presents its objectives.

1.1.2 Partners

All seven (7) partners involved in the project are introduced with live links to the home pages of each institution.

1.1.3 News

This section aims to provide information regarding upcoming events as the project progresses.

1.1.4 Contact

The "Contact" page provides information (address, telephone and fax number, email address) for contacting BMT, the Lead Beneficiary responsible for dissemination and exploitation.

1.1.5 Downloads

This page contains documents which have been and will be published about the project, such as press releases, leaflets, publications, public deliverables, etc.

1.1.6 Private

This secured section is accessible to partners in the project by means of a login and password. Shared documents such as meeting minutes, reporting templates etc. are made available.

1.1.7 Others

The website also has links to the project's Facebook page and Twitter account which complement the website to publicize project updates.

1.2 Management and Maintenance

The project website is managed and maintained by the BMT Group, as the leader of Work Package 5 (Dissemination and Exploitation). BMT Group provides technical and administrative support for the website and works with other partners to continually develop and update information in a timely manner.